Interns will have the opportunity to learn our business with traders, advisors and consultants who make a living working with grain and livestock growers. We will teach and train you on the following while you earn $5,000 plus most expenses in two months.

- Learn to manage price risk in the grain and livestock markets following our strategies and plans
- Become an outstanding phone communicator using top notch prospecting and selling tools
- Develop a large network of ag businesses
- We will teach you the real life skills that every employer looks for
- Begin to build a book of business that starts you on the way to earn a 6-figure income

Background

Roach Ag Marketing is a 36 year old market advisory company focused on U.S. row crop producers and end users. (www.roachag.com) We work with our customers providing guidance in marketing their crops and managing price risk in the commodity markets.

The nature of our business allows us to serve Midwestern clients from our main office in beautiful, sunny Boca Raton, Florida, only ½ mile from the beach. Entry level Advisors must complete a 2 year commitment in the main office and then may have the option of relocation.

We are a highly respected leader in the industry with unlimited career growth and income potential. Roach Ag's growth is dependent on our advisors' success. Our business model offers the support, training, and prospecting tools necessary to build a book of customers within 24 months on the job.

Qualifications

Successful candidates will have an entrepreneurial spirit and desire to work in a fast environment where they are responsible for setting and attaining their own goals. Be very interested in earning high income.

- Agricultural acumen strongly desired but not required. This is an ideal opportunity for candidates who desires a career in agriculture but not on the farm
- Bachelor's Degree intentions in agricultural business preferred but required; other majors can also acquire skills needed to be successful
- Good communicator and able to spend several hours a day talking to farmers.
- Must be internally motivated and able to work independently
- Work experience involving customer relations is a plus, but not required

Compensation

Summer interns will be paid up to $5,000 for a 12 week internship
Roach Ag will provide a living suite, day time meals and a reimbursement for car expense.

Objective

Your summer here at Roach Ag will be more than just an internship. Consider it the beginning of your career.

The industry we work in and the markets we follow have changed considerably over the past 10 years. Producers have grown substantially and are looking for their “go-to-person” to assist in making sound business decisions including cash sales, forward sales, hedging strategies and crop insurance. Next summer we will train 4 top people from the best Ag Schools to be highly paid market consultants to successful farmers.

We are looking for the brightest, self-driven good communicators that have the desire for high monetary returns. Roach Ag has trained many over the years and we know how to do it. We are more excited for those we train next year than ever. The industry needs good people and our greatest joy is celebrating success with team members. We will get you to a six digit figure income if you show success in your internship.

You must be willing to take on challenges and ready to be rewarded with great opportunities.
